R2615 has given the additional corrections at the blow:

"While there are some revisions and improvements from the first version, the discussion is really shallow. In fact, there is no real innovation in this study. The discussion is very long, repetitive, and its only contribution is at the local level. All the findings found in this study are already known in the literature."

Please do these corrections and send your finalized paper as soon as possible. We are looking forward to getting your finalized paper.
