Second, to my first love (Andy Fariesmana) who always provided support and motivation so that I remained enthusiastic and did not give up in working on this thesis. And thirdly, to my only sister (Alya Mukhbita Khansa Fariesmana), who always supports me and prays for me too. Then to my cat named Milo, thank you for comforting me and accompanying me when I was sad or down, but now that he has passed away, I am also very sad because he didn't get to see me graduate. And also to my grandmother (Hj. Siti Aisyah) thank you for your prayers and support for my life all this time. And for my grandfather (Alm. H. To my extended family, thank you for your support and prayers thanks to your question "when will you graduate?" Maybe this thesis can be the answer to your questions all this time. To my best friends (Sahla, Ninda, Amel) thank you very much because you are always a place to talk and want to listen to my complaints and don't get tired of providing support.

ABSTRACT

Language is something that is used to communicate between people from different regions. Each region must have a variety of languages. The existence of language makes it easier for someone to communicate even though they have differences in each country. In this research, the researcher analyze the code switching sentences used by The Connell Twins in the YouTube video. This study used a descriptive qualitative method. The data consisted of two YouTube videos posted by The Connell Twins in June 2022 and June 2024. In this study, the researcher used document analysis methods which are usually found in qualitative research. This method involves examining and interpreting data to uncover meaning, gain understanding, and reach a conclusion. The finding shows that the code-switching carried out by The Connell Twins occurred in two ways: 1) starting the conversation in Indonesian and switching to English, and 2) starting the conversation in English and switching the language to Indonesian. And the second video, uses three types of code switching. This occurs when there are repeated sentences that are used for clarification and require lexical content when the correct equivalent word is not found.
